

I'm proud to have the support of Small Business Forward. We share the belief that our city's band-aid approaches to big issues that affect small businesses have failed, and that we need long-term, proven solutions. I founded the San Francisco Public Bank Coalition to increase access to low-to-no-cost capital for small businesses and would work towards realizing a public bank as Supervisor. I've championed and supported more enforcement of the commercial vacancy tax, so that corporate landlords cannot continue to let storefronts sit empty. I will also fight for real solutions to our city's drug & homelessness crises, so that people feel safe walking our commercial corridors, which are the best in the city.
