

David Lee

If you were supervisor, would you do anything to help move the project forward? If so, what specific actions would you take? If not, why not?

Senior affordable housing is a priority I take seriously.

I am familiar with the 1234 Great Highway project, a 199-unit affordable senior housing development led by Tenderloin Neighborhood Development Corporation and Self Help for the Elderly, currently on extended hiatus due to financing challenges. The developers plan to reapply for funding in 2027, with a construction start hoped for 2028.

If elected, I would not wait. I would engage directly with the Mayor's Office of Housing and Community Development to explore whether bridge financing or alternative funding sources could accelerate the timeline, and meet with TNDC and Self Help for the Elderly to understand what the city can do to help close the funding gap.

I recognize this project has drawn neighborhood opposition. As supervisor, I would facilitate honest dialogue with the community while being clear that the housing needs of District 4 seniors must remain central to any decision.

The need is real. This project matters.