

When assigning schools to students, SFUSD should prioritize accessibility, strong education and ensure schools across the city are equally resourced.

I have heard complaints from many parents that they would like the option to walk their kids to school and not have to send them an hour across the city every day.

We can improve the selection process to ensure that students can choose a school in their neighborhood. Limiting travel time will also give kids one less thing to worry about and ensure that they are more focused on their education.

Schools must remain equitable and deliver strong academics, safe campuses, and support for teachers so our education system continues to prioritize students and families.
